Celebrating the Class of 2026

On Friday evening, our students came together to celebrate the end of their Longley Park journey at the beautiful Kenwood Hall. Dressed to impress, they enjoyed a fantastic night of laughter, dancing, and making lasting memories with friends in the stunning surroundings of the hotel grounds. The evening concluded with a particularly poignant moment as staff and students shared one final dance together – a heartfelt and unforgettable way to mark the end of this chapter. We would like to thank everyone who helped make the event such a special occasion. We are incredibly proud of all our students and wish them every success as they take their next steps.

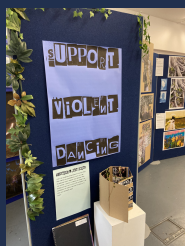

Showcasing Creativity and Talent

Our final-year Photography and Architecture, Interior and Product Design A Level students have been busy preparing their work for moderation this week, carefully curating and presenting the projects they have developed throughout their studies.

The displays are a testament to the creativity, dedication and technical skills our students have demonstrated over the course of their A Levels. From striking photographic portfolios to innovative design concepts, the quality of work on show reflects the hard work and commitment of our talented young artists and designers.

We are incredibly proud of everything our students have achieved and wish them every success as their work is reviewed. Their exhibitions highlight not only their artistic ability but also the perseverance and passion they have shown throughout their time at Longley Park. Congratulations to all involved on this outstanding achievement.

Students took part in interactive sessions within the university's impressive mock hospital ward, gaining valuable insight into real-world healthcare environments and career pathways. The state-of-the-art facilities provided an excellent hands-on learning experience, helping students develop their understanding of the medical profession and the skills required for the world of work. It was an inspiring and informative day that gave students a glimpse into future opportunities within the healthcare sector.

T-Level Students Gain Inspiration at The Steel Cauldron

The T-Level Education and Early Years year 1 students had a fabulous time at the Steel Cauldron in Sheffield.
